

SPORTS

Another young aspirant for honors on the base ball field has returned to Akron thoroughly convinced of the fact that it is a mighty hard matter to break into fast company.

Otto Bedur, the star player on the North End team last year, was signed by Dayton early in the season. During the practice games he led his team in batting and his fielding was up to the standard. Wednesday morning he received a notice from the management that his services could be dispensed with. No explanation was made and Bedur did not ask for any. He is greatly disappointed to think that he was not given a better chance.

IN PRIVATE.

Tom O'Rourke has announced that he will give a purse of $10,000 for a go in private between James J. Jeffries and Gus Rindlin. He says that he has a number of very wealthy friends who have authorized him to make the offer. He has agreed to deposit the entire amount with a newspaper as a guarantee that he will bring the fight off on scheduled time.

WRIGHT PITCHED.

Gene Wright pitched for Dayton Friday afternoon in the game against Columbus. He held his opponents down to seven hits, the Daytonians winning by a score of 12 to 3.

OVERLOOKED.

"Sporting Editor Daily Democrat: "Your correspondent, in reporting the series of games between the Peers and Summit teams Wednesday night overlooked some features which were quite as noteworthy as Clarence Moore's score of 234. The consistent howling of Walsh for instance who scored 171, 177, 183, and the fact that the series was to decide the possession of the handsome silver trophy, the championship emblem of the Howard st. league. The Summits won this trophy in the Howard st. tournament and according to the agreement it was open for contest by the second team. The series of five games played Monday and Wednesday nights gave the Summits the trophy for the second time to hold during season of 1901.

EDGEMORE FITE.

Captain Summit Bowling Club, HIS OPINION OF AUSTIN.

Madden has taken the time to take a fall out of Sam Austin, of New York, who is, he claims, trying to knock the managers of the fighters and advises all the boxers to throw down their managers and make their own matches. He says: "Austin speaks with no respect of fighters' intelligence when he tells them they should not have a manager. Where does he come in? There are fighters with a pound of common sense to an ounce of his. There is not a mercantile or amusement enterprise of any and every kind or in fact anything that is successful without good management. Sam himself used to take fighters' money for managing them. Richard K. Fox himself told me that he built his offices, which he says cost $250,000, out of Sullivan's fights with Ryan. I was the manager on the Sullivan end, and Wm. E. Harding was principally responsible for Fox's success. If he had a man as good since he could build plenty of other houses. The fighters Austin tried to manage were poor, still he took money they needed for their support. Now he can't get his talons on them, as it takes a man of some ability to make any money now out of boxing business. He doesn't mention names, but he can't roast all managers without a call from me. The men I have been connected with and who have stuck to me could give him advice instead of his trying to tell them what they should do. What he believes in and would do after a manager had placed a fighter where he could get big money is throw him down. Suppose Rindlin had done that to me when I got him his first large purse to fight Sharkey, and Sharkey won in jig time. He stuck before and after. So did I. And he beat Sharkey for good money two years after, and he has paid mortgages off on his parents' houses and given them thousands of dollars to go for many months to Europe. If he takes good care of his money and himself, in a year from now he can retire with a fortune. He has been with me four years. I had him since a novice and nearly all my men started with me when they had no reputations. After a few years the majority were known all over the world and were money-makers, not poor fighters that it was a shame to take money from like Austin handled. If Sullivan, Kilrain, Mitchell, Dempsey, McAniff, Maher, Goddard, Ryan, Ashton and many others had stuck as long as Rindlin and taken my advice they could have retired rich men, but none of the bunch would let Austin even tend doors for them."

R. Presson, Pressonville, Kans., writes: "Nothing like Foley's Honey and Tar" is the universal verdict of all who have used it. Especially has this been true of coughs accompanying influenza. Not a single bottle failed to give relief.

Too Much For the Cab.
One of the wealthiest wine merchants in Paris and also one of its stoutest citizens was the hero of an episode which caused much laughter in the Rue Principale.
M. R., the corpulent man, hailed a cab, which came alongside the curb. He opened the door and, getting a purchase on the railing of "cabby's" seat, tried to hoist himself in.
But his weight was too much for the vehicle, which careened over and, as the sidewalk is very narrow, crashed into a window of a printing office. M. R. had meanwhile collapsed on the ground, and "cabby" by a miracle clung to his uncertain perch.
Then followed a stormy period. The printer came out and wanted to have the price of his broken window, the fat man tried to get the cabby to drive him away, and cabby refused to take any such load on board.
Finally all parties adjourned to the police station, where the difficulty was straightened out, and M. R. set to work looking for another cab. —Paris Temps.

KEEPING PROMISES.

Akron Appreciates Always When Promises Are Kept.

Every time you read about Doan's Kidney Pills, you are told they cure every form of kidney ill, from backache to urinary disorders. How are our promises kept? Ask any citizen who has tried the treatment. Ask the man who makes the following statement:
Mr. Frank W. Brown, of 118 Common st., salesman in china store, says: "I suffered from a bad back and dreadful headaches. Being much on my feet increased the dull gnawing pain over the kidney; I was languid mornings, I could scarcely do anything and I was more weary than when I retired the night before. When regaining an upright position after stooping, sharp twinges often made me exclaim, 'I commenced using Doan's Kidney Pills and they immediately gave me relief. I procured them at Lamparter & Co.'s drug store and advise others to do the same if annoyed as I was. They restored my usual vigor, banished the pain across my loins and freed me from attacks of headache."
Sold for 50 cents per box, by all dealers. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.
Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

NEW BRIDGE.

Necessitated by Abutment of Old One Falling In.

The west wing of the abutment of the bridge over the Canal on Cherry st., near J. K. Williams' machine shop, toppled over into the water Friday night. No one was hurt and little damage was done except to the bridge itself.

The City Commissioners Saturday instructed Engineer John W. Payne to prepare plans and estimates for a new bridge. It will cost from $5,000 to $6,000 and be a single span iron structure.

The bridge fund is one of the few city funds which is not overdrawn.

MEDICINE BY ELECTRICITY

The Modern Method of Treating Chronic Diseases, such as Consumption, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Rheumatism, Nervous Diseases, Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia and Diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys—Indorsed by the most Eminent Specialists of the World.

The most eminent medical experts in this progressive age are the specialists who devote all their energies and studies to a single branch of practice, one of which well understood is better than a partial knowledge of all. The best surgeons are those who limit their practice to that specialty, and the most successful physicians in the treatment of chronic diseases are those who study and treat this one class of diseases.

The time is near at hand when the general practitioners will be in the minority, especially in the cities. Each will find a field for special work and study. Then the medical profession will command more respect and honorable consideration in the estimation of the public.

Dr. Travis' success in his special treatment of chronic diseases shows what concentration of energy along a single line of practice will accomplish. He treats Consumption, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Rheumatism, Nervous Diseases, Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia and diseases of the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys.

His office is fully equipped with all the modern appliances for the work, including X-Ray machine, Static electricity, Ozone Generator, Animal Therapy, Lymph and Cataphoric Medication by Electricity, etc. Terms reasonable. Consultation free at office.
